

International Journal of Engineering, Social Justice, and Peace

Fall 2015 | Volume 4 | Numbers 1–2

ISSN 1927-9434

Editors

Jens Kabo, Chalmers University of Technology, Sweden
Dean Nieuwsma, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, USA
Donna Riley, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, USA

Editorial Board

Asad Aziz, Colorado State University, USA
Sylvat Aziz, Queen's University, Canada
Margaret Bailey, Rochester Institute of Technology, USA
Caroline Baillie, University of Western Australia, Australia
Jenni Case, Cape Town University, South Africa
George Catalano, Binghamton University, USA
Mariano Fressoli, National University of Quilmes, Argentina
Elizabeth Godfrey, University of Technology Sydney, Australia
Rebekah Paci-Green, Western Washington University, USA
Katy Haralampides, University of New Brunswick, Canada
Jon Leydens, Colorado School of Mines, USA
Juan Lucena, Colorado School of Mines, USA
Darko Matovic, Queen's University, Canada
Alice Pawley, Purdue University, USA
Chris Rose, Rhode Island School of Design, USA
Carmen Schifellite, Ryerson University, Canada
Jen Schneider, Boise State University, USA
Amy Slaton, Drexel University, USA

Technical Assistance

Nasser Saleh, Queen's University, Canada
Martin K. Wallace, University of Texas at Arlington, USA

CONTENTS

ARTICLES*

Treating Water: Engineering and the Denial of Indigenous Water Rights	1–16
Travis Hnidan
Why Don't More American Indians Become Engineers in South Dakota?	17–34
Joanita M. Kant, Wiyaka His Horse Is Thunder, Suzette R. Burckhard, and Richard T. Meyers
Out of the Depths: Engineering, Submersibles and Assemblages	35–42
John Reader

* All articles in this journal are double-blind peer reviewed.